MEET OUR HOME ED TUTOR...

Hello, I'm Harriet. With over 14 years of experience in education, I've had the privilege of teaching across the full primary age range. Throughout my career, I've also taken on roles such as Assistant Headteacher and Special Educational Needs Coordinator, giving me a deep understanding of how to support every child's learning journey.

In my spare time I like getting outdoors with my two children and exploring the countryside, as well as curling up with a good book!

What drives me the most is making learning exciting, meaningful and accessible. I love creating an environment where children feel curious, confident and genuinely excited to explore new ideas.

BLOCK 1: STARTS WEDNESDAY 9TH SEPTEMBER

SUPERHEROES OF THE PAST

Unmask the superheroes of the past!

Join us on an exciting journey through history as we discover a different hero from the past in every session! From pioneering astronauts like Neil Armstrong to inspiring inventors, explorers, scientists and leaders, children will learn about the people who changed our world through courage, determination and curiosity. ✨

Each session will begin with a lively maths warm-up to build confidence and fluency in key skills. To launch this theme the children will be learning about Neil Armstrong- the first man on the moon! Throughout the topic, children will also enjoy weekly spelling activities, learning key vocabulary, grammar, punctuation and handwriting.

At the end of each session, children will complete a range of fun problem-solving tasks that put their newly-learned skills into action. They will enjoy tackling a range of exciting challenges!

Each fun, interactive session will also include engaging stories, hands-on activities, creative crafts and discussions designed to bring history to life while developing literacy, critical thinking and confidence. These sessions provide opportunities for children to learn, create and be inspired by real-life role models from across history. Perfect for curious learners who love to explore, ask questions and discover the amazing people behind some of history's greatest achievements!
